Anti-racist Protesters Rally, Dare Tory Councillors to Face Them Anti-racist demonstrators are organising a series of demonstrations to force Tory councillors in Hackney to confront them at council meetings. The first demonstration, starting at 7.30am at Hackney libraries, will see protesters chanting at the councillors, "We are your constituents, we have a right to be here". The group, which is made up of Hackney residents, want the Tory councillors to admit that they are not serving the interests of local residents. The man who is organising the protests, Steve Gerber, said: "The Tory councillors have ignored us all the time. I have been going regularly to meetings for two and a half
